Nicole Daulton, owner and founder of Nicole Michelle Maternity has released her most impressive season of maternity formal wear for Fall 2006. Nicole Michelle Maternity was just an idea seven years ago when I was pregnant with my first child, Summer. I could not find nice, stylish maternity clothes anywhere. I looked all across the country. The things I did find that were "hip", started around about $300.

I refused to wear the clothes that were offered. So I took up sewing lessons and made my entire maternity wardrobe. Women would stop me and ask where they could find the clothes I was wearing. I saw the need for sexy, stylish, chic maternity clothes.

I have designed my entire line around clothes I loved when I wasn't pregnant. I've just made them around our growing bellies. I believe being "with child" is a true gift from God, and no woman should try and hide it. I also know how hard it is to feel good about yourself when your body seems to never stop growing.

The traditional "big maternity clothes" make women look even bigger. My maternity line is roomy, yet tapered. The clothes allow you to grow without making us look like tents. The line makes you look as sleek and slim as we possibly can. I am now pregnant with my second child. I love the clothes I've designed. I wear them everyday. I hope you love them too.

Nicole's story will be featured on an HBO special during April starting April 11.
